

IP Offerings LLC

Intellectual Property Brokerage and Consulting Services

Part of the General Patent Corporation (GPC) group of companies, IPOfferings LLC helps inventors, businesses, universities and other owners of patents and other forms of intellectual property sell or license their IP. Working on a contingency basis, IPOfferings will both evaluate and value your patent or IP portfolio to determine its marketability. IPOfferings will create a marketing package that includes all the information a buyer needs to conduct the due diligence required to fully evaluate your intellectual property including evidence of use, claim charts and potential licensing candidates. IPOfferings directly contacts prospective buyers and negotiates on behalf of the patent owner.

IPOfferings also represents organizations that wish to acquire new or additional patents, and does so on an anonymous basis, insuring confidentiality and discretion. And IPOfferings represents patent owners that wish to license their intellectual property or find additional licensees. IPOfferings also provides IP-related consulting services and M&A IP due diligence.

Sophisticated Brokering Methodology

IPOfferings initially evaluates your patent or IP portfolio, then values each individual patent. We identify prospective purchasers and licensees, understanding that a business may purchase the patent to both practice it and license it to non-competing companies, or purchase the patent as a defensive strategy. We then develop a marketing plan and create a package of collateral and support materials that includes the information prospective licensees will need to perform due diligence. We identify and target specific prospects, and negotiate and close the sale. IPOfferings is paid based on the results we produce for the IP owner.
